

– the –
Terrible Red Racer

by Stephanie Burgess

Illustrated by Kate Hawthorne

Words from Stephanie's mouth
Dedicated to DyanBurgess

(C) 2014 Stephanie Louise Burgess

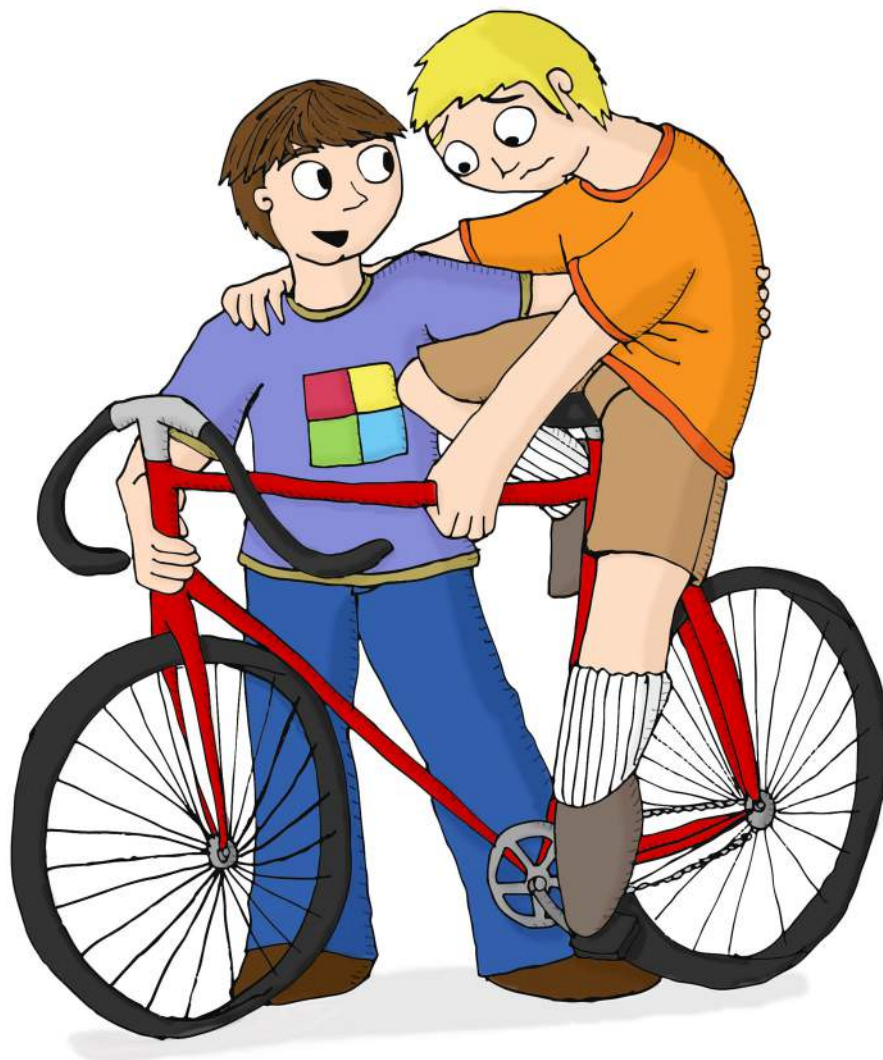

Daddy has broken his arm and is playing lemonade stand on the Apple II computer.

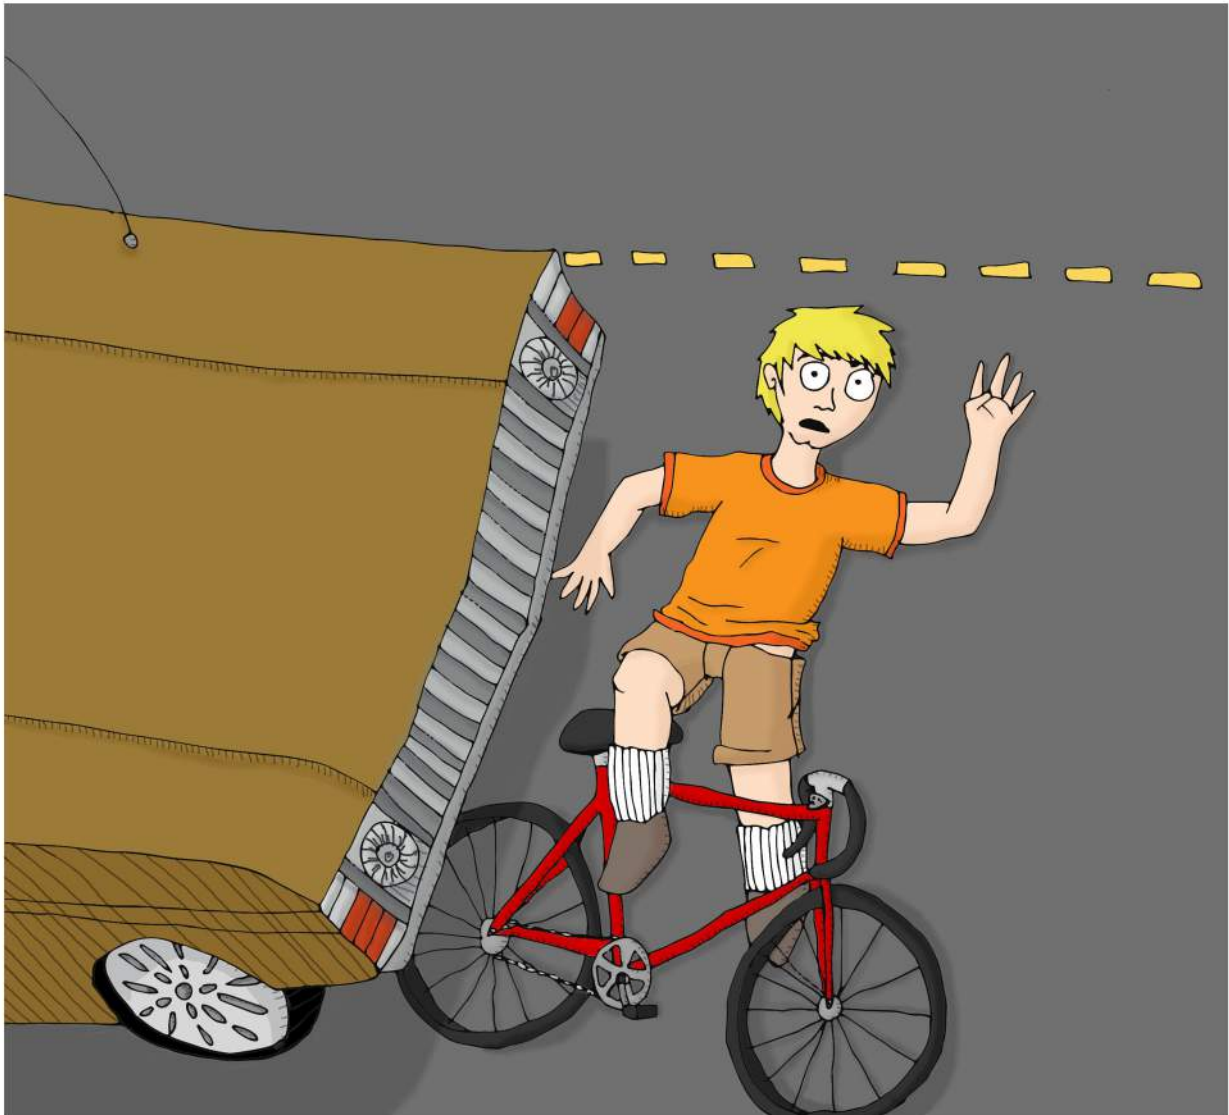

Dad went to Jeremy Tobin's house and thought it was really cool because Jeremy had all the latest technology.

Daddy got onto The Terrible Red Racer with Jeremy helping him because the bike was a bit too big.

He fell off the bike and the car almost ran over him and he looked like a Flat Stanley.

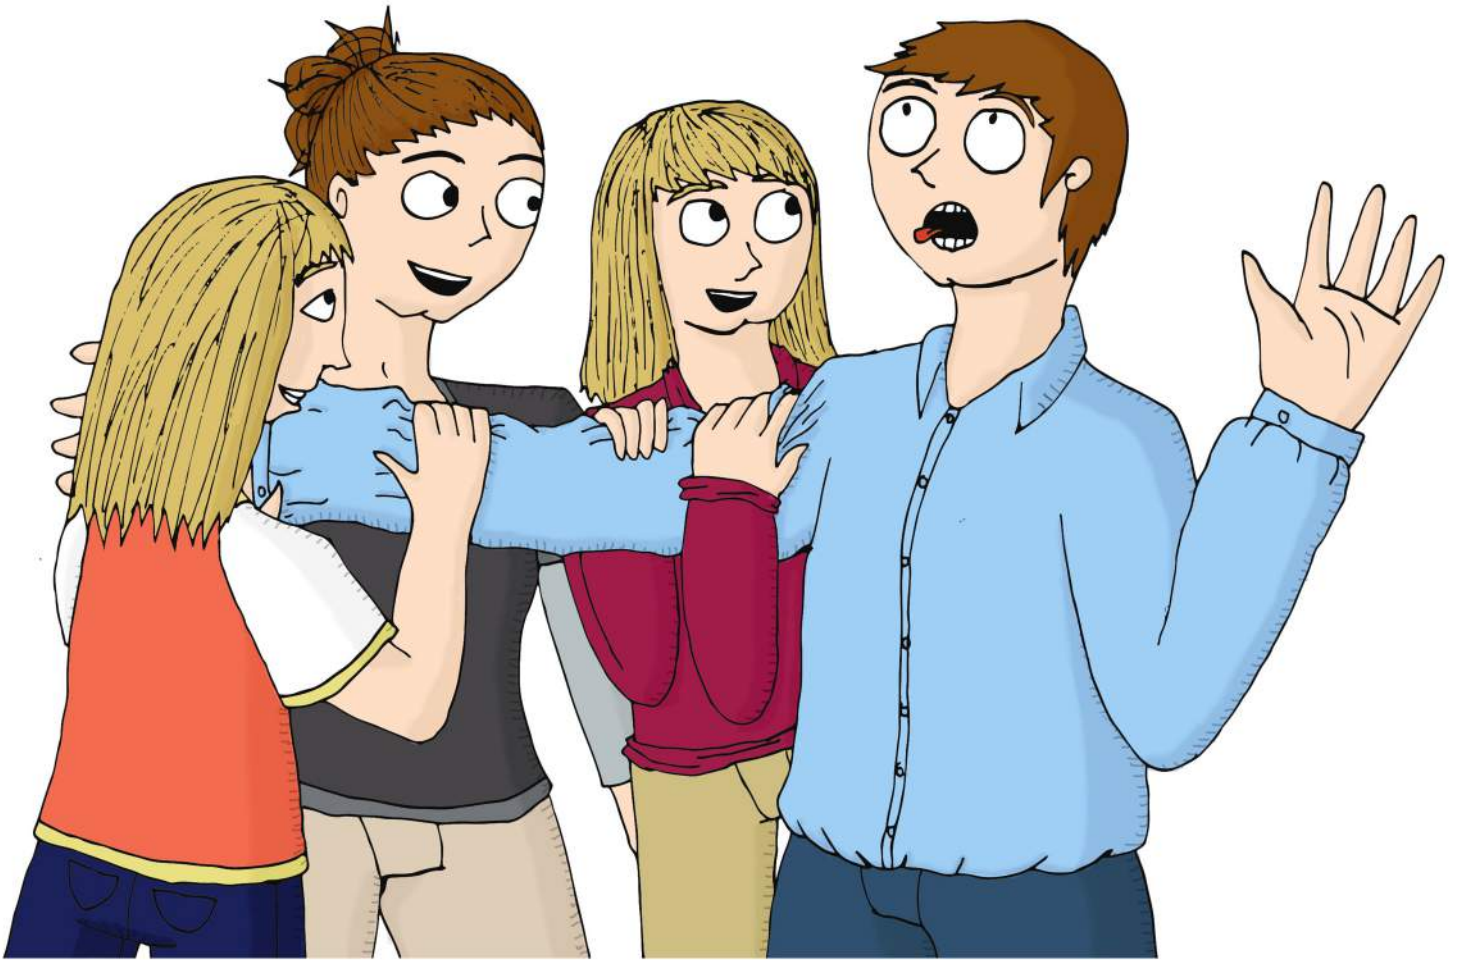

The office lady dragged dad out the door because she didn't think he had broken his arm.

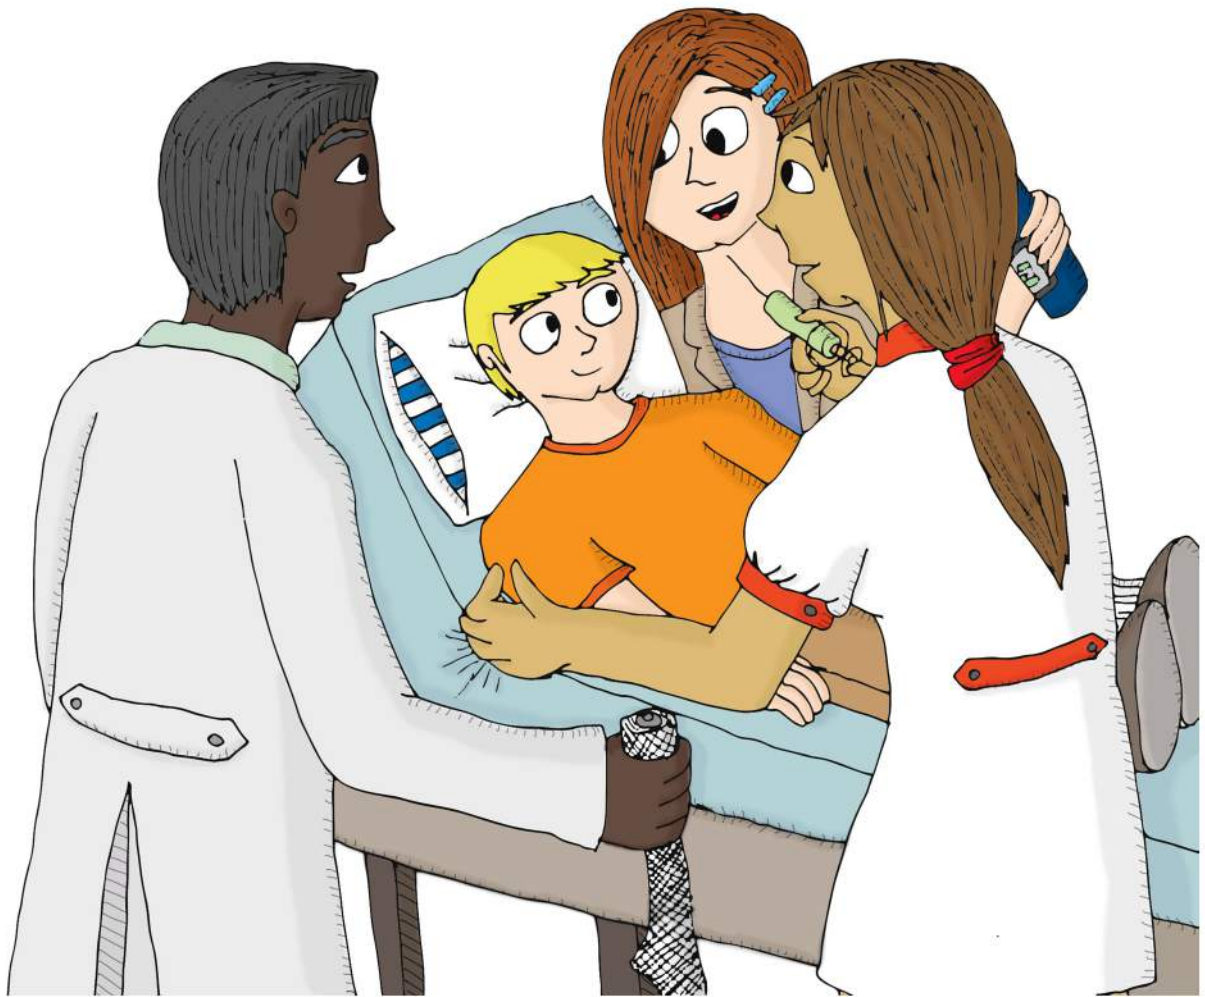

Granny drove dad to the hospital
- she was rolling her eyes while
Dad was in great pain.

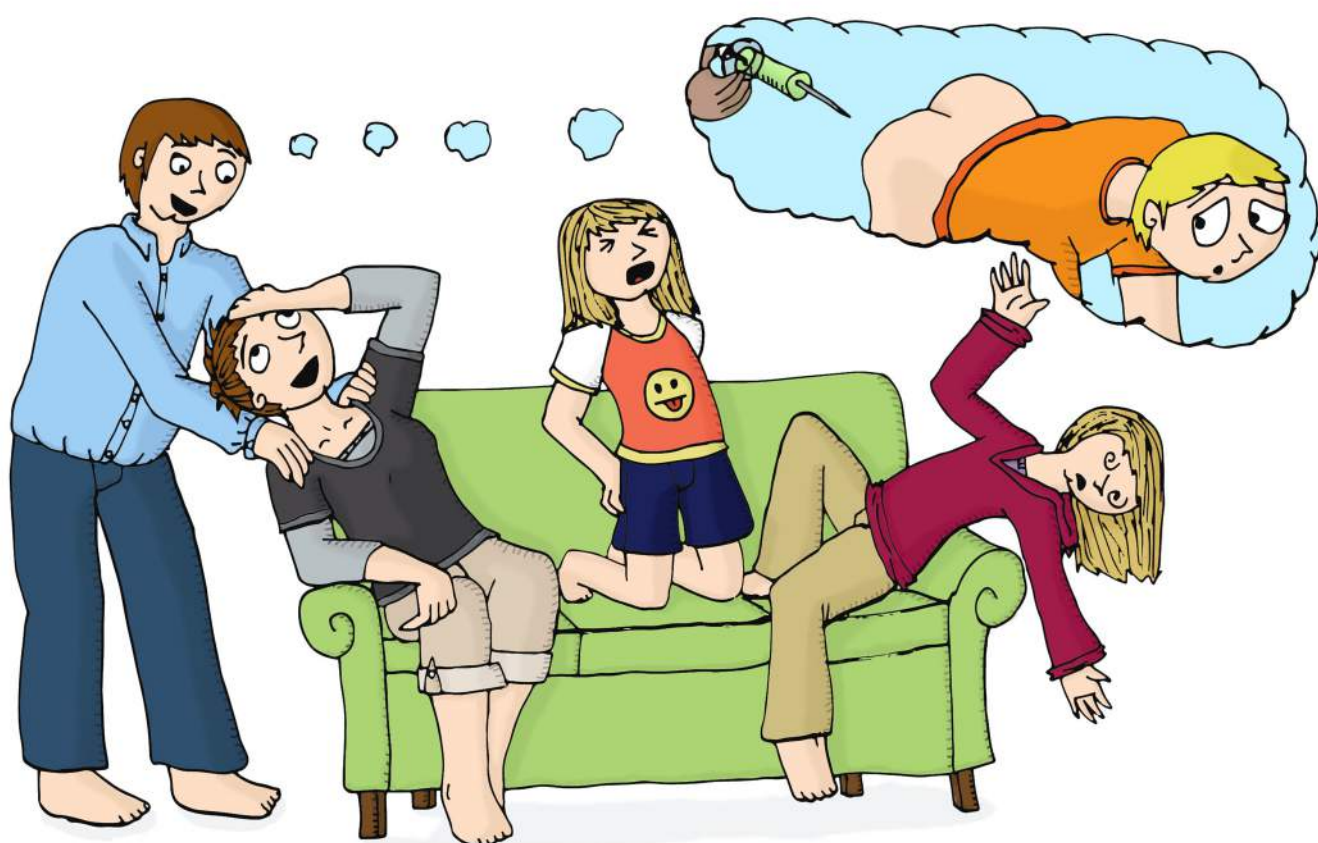

Daddy showed us getting his arms pulled in different ways and he screamed 'ouch' and we all got a big fright.

The nurses and doctors gave Dad an injection to ease the pain.

Daddy made all the girls crack up again because we were thinking about him getting stabbed in the bottom by a big needle.

A shortened story of The Terrible Red Racer.

www.wordsfromdaddymouth.com.au